Historical Society Meets September 7 Plan Open Houses

The Directors of the Historical Society met at the rooms of the organization on Pine street on Tuesday, August 25 and considered many matters of importance relative to the holding of "open house" frequently, so that visitors might be able to see the large accumulation of exhibits at frequent intervals. Additional gifts have recently been received for which the Society is grateful. The quarterly meeting of the organization will be held at the Pine street building on Tuesday evening, September 7, at 8 o'clock and members are urged to attend. An interesting program is being arranged. A signature book for visitors to sign when they call to inspect the displays is being kept in the entrance hall, and already contains the names of several hundred persons from outside the town. Many visitors after seeing the exhibits, have commended the efforts of the society and congratulated them upon the display and the many historical items already secured. President A. P. Pitt is much pleased with the interest taken and the members of the active committees deserve a word of appreciation for their valuable endeavors. In the words of a well known visitor, competent to judge, the local "endeavor is most commendable and its exhibits rank high with historical objects." The Museum will be open next Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock and there will be a food sale on the lawn at 3. All are invited to visit and there is no admission fee.

Hannah Cotter Dies

Miss Hannah E. Cotter of Branford, Conn., for many years a resident of this town, died in the hospital at New Haven on Friday, August 27. She was the housekeeper for her cousin, Father Cotter at the rectory in Branford and had gone to the hospital in New Haven to call upon him during his illness there. This was on Tuesday evening, August 24 and a "blackout" test had just sounded its alarm as she was leaving the hospital, when upon the street a New York motorist struck her and she sustained serious injuries from which she died. The motorist stopped his car and carried her into the hospital which she had just left. Miss Cotter was born in Cork, Ireland and came to this country when quite young with the other members of her family. Seven years ago she left Northfield, Conn., and a brother, William Cotter of Branford. Surviving are a sister, Miss Dora Cotter of Ansonia, Conn., and several cousins, nieces and nephews. The funeral service was at the Branford church on Monday morning, August 30 at 11 a. m. and burial was in the St. Marys cemetery here on Monday afternoon. Miss Cotter will be kindly remembered by a large circle of friends.

The Grange Session

The next meeting of the local Grange will be held at the Grange hall on Tuesday evening, September 14 at 8 o'clock, with considerable business to be transacted. At 9:30 o'clock a program will be presented and the public will be invited to a showing of movie reels on "News of the Air" and "Commandos in Action." Admission is free.

Summer Residents Have An Open-air Service Speakers And Music

On Sunday afternoon, August 29 at Edgemont, on the spacious lawn of the home of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Hoehn, over one hundred members of the summer colony with guests, gathered in an open-air religious service which was a farewell gathering ere their pilgrimage to their homes began. It was a beautiful day and before the service many availed themselves of the splendid view up the valley from the grounds. The audience were seated on the lawn, some in chairs, some on blankets and others using cushions to make themselves comfortable. The service was kept within the hour but many lingered much longer in the spirit of hospitality which prevailed. The meeting began with the singing of Gospel hymns under the direction of Irving J. Lawrence who presided at the organ. A brass quartette from Louise Andrews camp for boys of the Salvation Army played two selections and after the close of the meeting rendered an additional selection by request. Major C. D. Brindley in charge of Salvation Army work for young people in New England, spoke of the work being accomplished at the camp, paying an appreciation to the influence of Dwight L. Moody and to Northfield and its citizens. Dr. Robert A. Watson, minister of the Reformed church of Jamaica, N. Y., read a portion of Scripture and delivered the invocation. Mrs. Bruce Biddle of Si-loam Springs, Arkansas rendered a selection with her sister, Mrs. Frank Schroeter of Westfield, N. J., accompanying. Norman E. Way of the Farms also sang accompanied by Mr. Lawrence. Rev. Dudley Peck of Guatemala, Central America spoke in a most interesting way of the work of his wife and himself as missionaries of the Presbyterian Board in that country and of his translation of the Bible into the language of the Indians of that country. A copy of the new translation was shown. Mrs. Biddle and Mr. Way, each again rendered a selection and the audience joined in a final hymn. The benediction was pronounced by Dr. Arthur T. Berger of Syracuse, N. Y., the President of the Ridge Association. Long after the service, those attending remained to greet friends and neighbors and expressed the desire for a similar gathering another season. W. C. Atkins and George W. Carr were the ushers and Mr. Hoehn presided.

The bride wore a brown jersey suit with beige blouse, light green feather toque and brown veil and accessories to match. Her corsage included three orchids tied with green and beige and ribbons to match. The bridesmaid wore a green worsted suit with beige blouse and brown accessories. Her corsage was two toned roses tied with ribbon of beige and green. The wedding took place at the Myles Standish Hotel and a reception followed. In the receiving line, Mrs. Murray Hammond wore black sheer with black and white accessories and a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Davis of Keene, N. H., the bridegroom's grandmother, wore blue and white sheer with black accessories and a white rose corsage.

School Opens Wednesday Teacher List Complete Repairs During Summer

The public schools of this town will open on Wednesday, September 8 and all will be in readiness for the usual classes to begin. On Tuesday morning there will be a teachers meeting with the Superintendent, when plans for the school year will be outlined. At noon the Principals will confer with their respective teaching staffs. On Tuesday afternoon, parents or pupils may confer with the Principals and teachers, if they desire to do so. New families, who have located in the town, should confer with the Principals and present their transfer records before the opening of school. It is expected that this year there will be a large enrollment. It is announced that school lunches will not be served until the 13th.

This has been a busy summer for the school department. The new roadway around the buildings has been completed. Six more swings have been installed and grading for the same completed. A new doorway and new emergency doors have been made at the rear of the high school. The commercial room floor has been refinished as have many of the badly scarred high school desks. The burner at the Center school has been converted to coal and the stoker installed as required by the Federal Government. The coal bin at the front of the building was necessary since no other means of storing coal was possible. There have been four changes in the teaching staff since the close of schools in June. Miss Adeline O'Neil will teach English and Spanish. Miss Gladys Midura, commercial subjects. Miss Priscilla Hayward will have grade 5 and Mrs. Ruth Bolton returns to Northfield after an absence of two years. She will have grade one. The remainder of the staff is as follows: High school, principal, Roland E. Currier; science, Evelyn Lawley; history, Julia Austin; domestic science, Helen Jenkins. Center school, principal, George Leonard; history, Esther Leonard; English, Elizabeth Braley; assistant principal and grade four, Dorothy Totman; grade two, Elizabeth Alexander; grade three, Mary Dalton.

Seminary Graduate Holds Fine Position

A Northfield Seminary graduate, Staff Sergeant Marguerite Reynolds of the WAC, holds what must be one of the most interesting assignments available to women in the entire Corps. She is the private secretary to General Dwight Eisenhower. Sgt. Reynolds trained at Fort Des Moines, Iowa, and before her enlistment she was a Navy Department stenographer for Lieut.-Com. Gene Tunney.

Her sister Lieut. Ruth Reynolds, also a graduate of the Seminary, is an Army nurse and is now located in the Solomon Islands.

Christmas Box Mail To Men In Services

The Postoffice department advises that packages for the men in the service must be mailed early if they are to reach them for the Christmas season. All Christmas packages must be secure and marked "Christmas parcel" and must have the address plainly written upon it. The package should contain no perishable goods. The mailing should be between September and October 15. If you are mailing it would be well to consult your Postmaster and obtain all detailed information.

Summer Homes Closing

Since school bells will ring soon, many families who have occupied their summer homes on the Rustic Ridge and elsewhere about Northfield have left for their permanent residences this week. Every day a number have departed and the houses are boarded up to await another season. Many without children going to school will remain to enjoy the pleasant weather to follow and the invigorating air of the fall when the leaves begin to turn and the foliage presents another picture of the landscape.

Receives Navy Wings

Information from the Navy department is that Gordon E. Carr, son of George W. Carr, receives his "wings of gold" this week upon the completion of his course at the naval air training station at Pensacola, and now has the rank of Ensign. He is now a naval aviator on active duty and will go to an operational training center before assignment to a combat zone.

MY MOTHER

I keep a priceless painting in the temple of my heart.
A gift to me from heaven in the Master's perfect art;
A little homelike picture of a mother, oh so dear,
Whose prayers I fondly cherish and whose lessons I revere.
No vision so poetic can the brush of man portray,
The earth must have its angels and there's one abides with me;
Her hair is winter whitened and her eyes are summer blue,
Like clouds of snowy softness when the sunbeams trickle through.
Her handclasp sometimes trembles and a halting step occurs,
But oh the tender sweetness of that patient soul of hers;
And though the sun and stars may perish,
And the world may fall apart,
My Mother lives forever in the temple of my heart.
—By Sgt. Thomas P. Carey

Know Massachusetts

DO YOU KNOW THAT . . . A preliminary calculation indicates that the average amount now being withheld from the pay of Massachusetts factory wage earners for income tax is about 9 per cent. Applied to $41.78, the amount last reported as the average weekly earnings, this means an average deduction of about $3.75 per week. . . . Motor vehicle traffic on Massachusetts highways during July was nearly 66 per cent less than in July, 1941 and 37 per cent less than in July a year ago. . . . Consumption of cotton in Massachusetts textile mills during July this year was 40,710 bales, compared with 61,861 bales in the same month a year ago; declines occurred also in all the other textile states. Records of the Massachusetts Division of Employment Security for 1942 showed an average of 1,314,637 employees subject to unemployment insurance, to whom wages and salaries were paid during the year amounting to $2,420,530,000. Of this sum, 62 per cent went to employees in manufacturing, 18.4 per cent to those in retail and wholesale trade, 5.6 per cent in transportation, 4.9 per cent in construction industries, 4.6 per cent in banking and other financial institutions and 4.3 per cent in various services. The seven classifications of industry having the largest payrolls for the year were: electrical equipment, including machinery and appliances, $113,698,000; ship and boat building $112,739,000; woolen and worsted mills $105,278,000; metalworking machinery $88,848,000; cotton manufactures $75,569,000; special industry machinery, excluding metalworking, $73,054,000. footwear, except rubber, $65,361,000. . . . Mayor Edward A. Coffey of Salem, upon recommendation of the City Planning Board, has asked for an appropriation to set up a permanent planning staff.

A sailor had broken up with his girl. He ignored several letters asking him to return her picture. Finally she threatened to complain to the lieutenant.
He collected all the available pictures of girls on the ship and sent them to her with the following note: "Pick yours out. I have forgotten what you look like."

As the high-school version of it goes, a sentry halted a man. Said the sentry, "Who goes there — friend or enemy?"
"Friend."
"Sing the second verse of 'The Star Spangled Banner,'" ordered the sentry.
The man hesitated. "I don't know the words," he said.
The sentry—"Advance, friend."

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE PRESS

The other day when the boys were lined up for inspection the lieutenant walked up and down the ranks and stopped in front of one yardbird and said: "Do you know, Jones, you remind me of General Grant."

Jones was so surprised that all he could say was, "Do I, sir?"
"Yes," said the lieutenant, "he didn't shave, either."

A young man said to a young lady standing on the sidewalk: "You look like Helen Black."

Whereupon the young lady said: "Yes, I know I do, but I look worse in white."

"What do I have to pay for a marriage license?" asked the timid young man.

"Well, you get it on the installment plan," returned the facetious clerk.

"How's that?"
"Ten shillings down," said the clerk, "and your entire salary each week for the rest of your life."
